I was surprised to see the death notice of Sr Boniface in the paper. I'm sure this is the same Sr Boniface who taught me in the 4th/5th grades at Sacred Heart in Cincinnati back in the 50s. When you are a child you think all adults are "old" and I often wondered if my grade school teachers were still around. Being 61 I really didn't think there were too many still alive. It is so odd because I was just speaking of Sr Boniface just last week. I was reminiscing with my children about my grade school teachers. Sr Boniface was a wonderful teacher and I have such fond memories of my school days at Sacred Heart and of my teachers. She touched so many lives, I'm sure her family knows this and is very blessed to have Sister as part of their family. My sympathy and prayers are with you.
